

The Department of Linguistics is pleased to present

Elena Anagnostopoulou (University of Crete and IMS-FORTH)

speaking on

Rethinking clitics: a view from Greek

Friday, May 23, 2025

1:20 - 3:00 PM

in HUM 1 - 202

Abstract:

In this talk, I will revisit the relationship between clitic doubling and object agreement in connection to the syntax of clitics, via an assessment of three recent proposals on Greek clitic doubling. I will offer novel evidence based on co-ordination resolution supporting the view that clitic doubling involves a dependency between a clitic with $i\phi$ and a DP with $i\phi$. Finally, I will highlight arguments that, in my view, are crucial to decide between different versions of movement analyses.