

LASC 2010

Saturday March 13, 2010

202 Humanities One

9:15—9:50	Light Breakfast
	Judith Aissen	Welcome Remarks
10:00—10:30	Robert Henderson	Separating Syntactic and Semantic Scope: An Argument from Distributive Pluractionality and Dependent Numerals [abstract]
10:30—11:00	Nico Feria	Inverting As-Parentheticals [abstract]
11:00—11:30	Break
11:30—12:00	Anie Thompson	Interactions Between Footing, Accent and Lengthening in Seneca [abstract]
12:00—12:30	Boris Harizanov	Non-initiality within Spell-Out Domains: Unifying the Post-Syntactic Behavior of Dative Clitics in Bulgarian [abstract]
12:30—2:00	Lunch
2:00—2:30	Matthew Tucker	On the Implications of the Anaphor-Agreement Effect [abstract]
2:30—2:45	Break
2:45—3:15	Nicholas LaCara	Verbal Ellipsis in the Nominal Domain [abstract]
3:15—3:45	Mark Norris	The Architecture of Derivational OT: Evidence from Icelandic Syncope [abstract]
3:45—4:00	Break

Distinguished Alumnus Lecture

4:00—5:00

Pete Alrenga (BU)

No more maximality in the comparative clause (joint work with Chris Kennedy) [abstract]

There will be a party following the conference.