

UCSC Linguistics Undergraduate Research Conference 2004

Stevenson College, Silverman Room
Wednesday, June 2, 2004, 2:30-5:30pm
(followed by a reception outside the conference room)

2:30-3:00	Alexa Goldstrom	A Chachapoya History
3:00-3:30	Dan Roth	Semi-Implicative Predicates
3:30-4:00	Eric Terao	The Utterance-final Glottal Stop in Japanese
4:00-4:15	Break
4:15-4:45	Computational Linguistics Group (Michael Fernwood, Abe Heckenbach, Morgan Jones, and Jennifer Moore)	Predictive Text Messaging: Aspects of Text-ese and Fragmented Speech
4:45-5:30	Invited speaker: Jason Riggle, UCLA BA in Linguistics and Psychology, UCSC, 1997 MA in Linguistics, UCSC, 1999	Plural Reduplication in Pima: Phonotactics, Pseudo-compounds, and Optionality
5:30-6:00	Reception	